

Finance

Degree: Bachelor of Arts in Finance

As a Finance Major, you'll focus on developing the technical skills and abilities you need to identify investors' needs and to analyze investments and corporate finance. At the same time, you'll gain a broad understanding of every element of business – including economics, accounting, and statistical analysis. And because so much of the work of analysts involves dealing with clients, our courses stress problem-solving and communication skills, giving you an added advantage over others in the field.

"Finance has been a great choice for me. My professors at Marietta helped me to understand how important it was to solve a pain point for the customer, find a way to monetize that, and understand costs in order to build a successful business. This is a cornerstone of success in a capitalistic economy. I now work as a CFO for venture backed companies in the Silicon Valley. The combination of the teamwork that was reinforced in my Marietta experience on the Crew Team and in a sorority, as well as the strong finance academic component and my MBA have helped propel me in my career."
Mary Korn, Class of 1982, Partner, FLG Partners LLC
