

It is the policy of Marietta College to maintain access for the campus community to local, national and international sources of information and to provide an atmosphere that encourages access to knowledge and sharing of information.

It is also the policy of the College that information resources will be used by members of the campus community with respect for the public trust through which they have been provided and in accordance with policies and regulations established from time to time by the College, its operating units, and appropriate legal authorities. This includes the campus code and/or creed, the Sexual and Discriminatory Harassment policy, and all other policies, which govern campus life.

In accordance with the above policies, the following guidelines, which are not to be considered exhaustive, have been established for general Internet and e-mail usage.

1. Any member of the Marietta College community - student, faculty, and staff - may request and obtain an e-mail account with limited web space while that person is a legitimate member of the community. "Legitimate" is defined to mean that the person is a current student, currently employed faculty or staff person, or retired and that this status is reflected in the college's administrative database. Once a person ceases to be a legitimate member of the Marietta College community that person's e-mail account will be deleted. Expired accounts are deleted in the middle of each semester. In some cases, accounts may be continued as guests, or as paying accounts through the college-sponsored community network. It is the responsibility of the user to obtain such continued status prior to the expiration of the account.
2. By agreeing to hold an e-mail account at Marietta College, the user agrees to hold Marietta College harmless for any detriment that may accrue when that account is suspended and/or deleted. It is understood that account holders will use their e-mail to further their educational objectives at Marietta College, and will not use their accounts to further commerce in any substantial fashion.
3. Access to the Internet through Marietta College is a privilege, not a right. Any user, who, without authorization, accesses, uses, destroys, alters, prevents rightful access to or otherwise interferes with the integrity of computer-based information or information resources obtained through the Internet has engaged in unethical and unacceptable conduct. The user is therefore open to forfeiture of the Internet account and/or disciplinary action by the College and/or appropriate legal authorities according to already established procedures.

4. It is the responsibility of all individuals to guard against abuses of the Internet. These include, but are not limited to, keeping your password confidential, changing your password regularly, respecting the privacy of others, complying with legal protection provided by copyright and licensing of programs, and all state and federal laws governing information technology.
5. It is the intention of Marietta College to respect the privacy of all electronic communications. However, the College does not guarantee confidentiality. In order to maintain, repair, or develop the campus network, certain employees will have special access privileges to hardware and software and therefore to the content that resides in those resources. While every effort will be made to protect the confidentiality of such information, the users should exercise discretion when saving or writing electronic communications.
6. Marietta College encourages open and active participation on the Internet by individuals. This participation may take such forms as private consultations with colleagues, postings to lists or bulletin boards, and/or personal home pages on the Internet. At no time may the user present him or herself as a representative of Marietta College unless given explicit written permission, nor does the College accept any responsibility for the contents of such communications. Furthermore, the individual must ensure that the materials on the home page do not in any way violate the proprietary rights of any other party, and to provide a disclaimer plus the e-mail address of the person responsible for maintaining that home page. In addition, the account holder must make every effort to ensure that the information posted is as accurate as possible.

The disclaimer should read as follows:

The contents of this page are the responsibility of the author and do not necessarily reflect the policies of Marietta College. For more information, click here: <http://mcnet.marietta.edu/~itch/Account/Policy/Policy.php3>

7. Servers (or any network device that will be used by more than one user) must not be installed on the Marietta College Network without first applying to the Director of Technology and obtaining written permission. On receipt of any such request, the Director will convene the college committee set up to consider such requests. The Director will convey the decision of the committee to the applicant. Whenever such permission is given the Director must be provided with root access at all times and will specify in writing the constraints under which the server will operate. The decision of the committee to grant or withhold permission is final. The Director has the option (in consultation with the committee) of removing a device from the network without providing notice.

8. Each student living on campus will be allowed to operate one computer from his/her dorm area. The operation of this computer will be subject to the rules published by the IT department from time to time. These rules are to be construed as being part of this document. Permission to attach multiple computers to the network must be obtained from the IT Department.