

While at the KCACTF, I learned to be a better stage manager by talking to other college-age stage managers about how they manage their stage and I went to a few classes I went to that helped me to learn more about what being the stage manager is all about.