

The idea that we had was making a travel booklet that has information about different cultures of the countries that the booklets represent. This is useful because it allows the lack of knowledge of different cultures to be corrected for perspective tourists or those traveling to the country. The ability to sell booklets to points of travel or people who want to travel would be invaluable to the success of this product.