

FemPower is a women's magazine created by Katie Detsch. This magazine explores important and relatable aspects of life as a woman and feminism. Topics include comparisons between old-wave feminists and new-wave feminists, as well as looking at the different ways influential feminists define feminism. This magazine also includes a photo-story examining the pressures society places on young women. Overall, the goal of this magazine is to help normalize feminism and provide a relatable magazine for women of all ages.