

Declining literacy rates have been impacting schools across the nation and contributions from the summer slide are to blame. The summer slide is proven to have a significant impact on culturally diverse students and students of low socioeconomic class. This presentation will address the factors that lead to the summer slide and demonstrate how teachers can give students the opportunity to be surrounded by literature during breaks with limited resources.