

I will be presenting a poster board based off my internship experience in GuangDong Radio and TV in China. During my internship, I experienced different job position in the company, such as camera operator, video editor, and technical director. The presentation will be meanly focus on similarities and differences between Chinese and American TV station and video production based on my personal experience, since I have been working at WCMO-TV. Also, I will share my opinion about how working at Chinese TV station changed my perspective of media.
