

OMEA, Ohio Music Educators Association, was an amazing and informative experience for me as a future music educator. This conference was held in Cincinnati this year. While at this conference I was able to attend sessions where I learned how to survive your first year out of college to how to incorporate technology into the classroom setting. The sessions were gauged toward k-12 band, choir, orchestra, and general music curriculum.