

The Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival, or KCACTF, is an annual conference for collegiate theater departments. The Marietta College theater department has been participating for the past three festivals in Region Two where students have had the opportunity to participate in the Irene Ryan's Scholarship Competition. This gives our students a chance to receive feedback and tips from other industry professionals outside of our own department on how to improve our auditioning skills.