

I fulfilled my internship credit by traveling to France and assisting instructors in teaching cue-script Shakespeare acting to teenagers aged 14-18. I had been taught this method the year before, and spent several hours a day assisting in classes, watching performances and giving feedback, and having one-on-one instructing sessions with each individual student. At the end of the summer session, each student gave a cue-script performance of a Shakespeare scene.